

Global Community Café Web Version

GOOD NEWS STORY #1

from Canada

This week's good news story comes from my hometown of Vancouver. People in Vancouver want to show appreciation to health-care workers who are taking care of coronavirus patients in hospitals. So every night at around 7 p.m., residents start cheering, clapping and making noises from their windows and balconies. Similar events are happening in other cities near Vancouver and also all over the world. This is a really great way for people to join together as a community and support medical professionals during this difficult time.

Reference

The Canadian Press. "At 7 p.m. each night, B.C. residents applaud health-care workers." Vancouver Sun, 26 Mar. 2020, <https://vancouversun.com/news/local-news/at-7-p-m-each-night-b-c-residents-applaud-health-care-workers/>. Accessed 17 Apr. 2020.